Neighbourhood Policing Team Updates

February 2024 - Ulverston, Low Furness, High Furness & Grange

Welcome to this month's newsletter

Welcome to February's newsletter.

Below are just some of the things our team have been up to this month.

You may notice we often speak about visiting local schools and interacting with the children in our newsletters and wonder why this is a part of the role of a neighbourhood officer?

Throughout the year the NPT visit local schools, local groups and individuals in the community to educate them on issues.

Going into schools at such a young age is really key to building positive relationships with the police and is one of the more enjoyable parts of our role!

School talks are part of our intervention work to make young people aware of the consequences of their behaviour.

Please continue to raise any local issues to us via our surveys or be speaking to your local officer.

Meeting with local Parish Councillor

On 16 February, PCSO Helen Madden met with a local parish councillor in Baycliff to discuss setting up a 'No Cold Calling Zone' for the village with the support of Trading Standards.

This was in response to concerns of incidents of cold calling in the area.

We will keep you updated with the progress.

Police desks Bardsea & Urswick

On 15 and 16 of February, two police desks were held at the Malt Kiln, Bardsea and The Parish Rooms in Great Urswick.

Local residents were given the opportunity to raise any concerns they may have.

Issues raised included cold calling, anti-social behaviour and speeding concerns.

Joint work with Mountain Rescue

On 1 February local officer Paul Harris relied on his local knowledge to locate a hypothermic casualty in Hardknott Forrest.

After initial first aid was given along with officers from the Ulverston Blue Light Hub, the casualty was brought down to Birks Bridge Carpark in our venerable Yeti, where Duddon Mountain Rescue provided more advance treatment before transferring them to an air ambulance.

StreetSafe is a service that allows you to report safety concerns in public places without giving us your name.

This includes issues like poorly lit streets, abandoned buildings, or vandalism, as well as instances where you feel unsafe due to someone following or verbally abusing you.

Swarthmoor - Speed Indication Device

A Speed Indicator Device (SID) is now in situ on Park Road Swarthmoor in response to concerns about speeding.

We will be obtaining the data regards to the speeding on this road and decide next course of action.

Low Furness - Street Safe Event

On 14 February, a Street Safe event was held at Great Urswick in response to community concerns regarding minor anti-social behaviour.

Information from the questionnaires has been used to target specific problems and shared with relevant partners.

Police campaign urges anyone who has suffered sexual abuse to seek support

Sexual violence can happen to anyone, of any age and in any walk of life.

At Cumbria Police, officers are trained to deal with these offences, investigate crimes and offer support to victims, which they do every day.

Over the coming weeks police are highlighting the work to tackle these offences and the support services available.

Crime in Cumbria is cut by more than eight per cent – with hard work and new measures producing some of best results recorded

Cumbria Constabulary has cut crime in the county by more than eight per cent –with the dedication and work of officers and staff producing some of the best results recorded.

Offences that cause real concern in communities including burglary, violence, public disorder and criminal damage to property are all down significantly.

Arrests, stop-searches and offences resulting in a positive outcome such as a charge have all gone up.
